POEM FOR THE DAY.

There's a comfortable thought at the close of the day,
When I'm weary and lonely and sad,
That sort of grips hold of my crusty old heart,
And bids it very merry and glad:
It gets in my soul and drives out the blues
And finally thrills, through and through—
It is just a sweet memory that chants the refrain.
"I'm glad I touched shoulders with you."

Did you know you were brave? Did you know you were strong?
Did you know there was one leaning hard?
Did you know that I waited and listened and prayed,
And cheered by your simplest word?
Did you know that I longed for the smile on your face—
For the sound of your voice ringing true?
Did you know I grew stronger and better because
I had merely touched shoulders with you?

I am glad that I live—that I battle and strive
For the place which I know I must fill;
I am thankful for sorrows—I'll meet with a grin
What fortune may send—good or ill;
I may not have wealth, and I may not be great,
But I know I shall always be true
For I have in my life that courage you gave
When once I rubbed shoulders with you.

HOMES FOR THE CONVALESCENTS AT FORT M'PHERSON

Washington, July 13.—As part of its program for looking after the men in the army training camps, the Red Cross war council has voted to build houses for convalescent soldiers in the camps at Fort Oglethorpe and Fort McPherson, near Atlanta, Ga. At Fort Oglethorpe the Red Cross is also taking over a stone quarry which is to be converted into a bathing pool large enough to accommodate 600.

The buildings for the convalescent soldiers will be used for men able to leave the hospitals, but still unfit for duty. Here amusement and recreation will be provided, not only to break the monotony and irksomeness of the recuperation period, but to aid in speedy recovery. Large lounging rooms, writing rooms and wide porches will be features of these houses which will supplement the recreation rooms maintained by the Y. M. C. A.

Mrs. Leonard Wood, wife of Major General Wood, commander of the southeastern district, is stimulating Red Cross activities in the camps under General Wood's charge. At her suggestion, estimates were prepared for converting the quarry into a bathing pool.

The pool is to be ready for use August 27th, when the second officers' training camp opens. Colonel Herbert Slocum will be in charge of its construction.

Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Now is the time to buy a bottle of this remedy so as to be prepared in case that any one of your family should have an attack of colic or diarrhoea during the summer months. It is worth a hundred times its cost when needed.—Adv.

Fall Coattress of Elegant Line

New York, July 11.—No man can possibly tell whether one style of woman's fall apparel is a coat or a dress. Advance fall designs are perhaps less confusing than summer models because they are less draped, and more severely tailored. One of the most attractive of coat dresses for fall is distinguished by a graceful skirt arrangement of side plaits. First showings of fall fashions indicate a continuance of the rather short and moderately full skirt.
